MILWAUKEE COUNTY PARISHES

- By 1920, there were 73 parishes in Milwaukee County.
- If your family lived in the City of Milwaukee and you are not sure which parish to search please submit your request with as much information on where the family lived as possible. Addresses can often be found in census records and city directories. Neighborhoods or the North, South, or West side of the city is also helpful for us to know if you are unsure of which church.
- Addresses in the City of Milwaukee changed in the early 1930s. If you provide an address in your request please indicate in the “details” box on the request form if it is the address from the time of the event or a current address. Our staff has the resources to convert an address to its current location. The addresses listed under each City of Milwaukee Parish is the 1920 address and may not be a current location; this may help you identify possible parishes to request a search from.
- Depending on where your ancestors lived you may also consider searching the counties surrounding Milwaukee:

OTHER RESOURCES

▪ Cemetery Records

The Archives does not hold cemetery or burial records. The Archdiocese of Milwaukee Catholic Cemeteries Office may be able to provide information on burials in the eight archdiocesan-owned cemeteries. An online database for burial locations is available on their website. If a parish owns a cemetery then separate burial records may be available which are different than the death registers noted above; please contact the parish or cemetery association that maintains the cemetery you are interested in for more information.

▪ Orphanage and Adoption Records

The records for orphanages are kept in several different locations. The Catholic Orphanages in the Archdiocese of Milwaukee webpage will provide basic background information on each orphanage and where the records may be located. If the person you are researching was adopted then you will need to contact the Wisconsin Department of Children & Families Adoption Record Search Program regardless of which institution the person was adopted from.

▪ Civil Records

Civil records may provide more information to your genealogical research. If you are searching for information on events which occurred after 1920 then civil birth, marriage, death, and divorce records may be available to you. There are a few options available for researching these records:

- Wisconsin Historical Society offers a searchable online database of Pre-1907 civil records
- Wisconsin Department of Health Services offers in-person genealogy research appointments
- Each County has a Register of Deeds Office with civil records; contact the office for request procedures
- County or local historical societies may have civil record indexes or newspaper obituaries/announcements
